Mobility Work Has Reached 1 Million Registered Hours of Intervention

The Next-Gen CMMS and First Maintenance Social Network is Steadily Expanding

Cloud-based, Mobility Work is a next-gen CMMS and the first maintenance social network. It is available from any smart device and allows easy record, share and report analysis of information on equipment and technical maintenance tasks within the network of one or more factories. The platform already registers more than 150 000 machines, 450 000 maintenance operations and just reached more than 1 million hours of intervention!

Since May 2016 (official launch), many large industrial groups and OEMs have already implemented Mobility Work in their daily maintenance routines and many others are in a test-phase of the product.

How Is Mobility Work Different From Other CMMS solutions?

The first objective of Mobility Work is to facilitate the maintenance management process for technicians by simplifying their interventions. Extremely intuitive, fast, and user-friendly, this tool does not require any training or setting up period. Neither does it require any IT skills. Internet connection is enough!

In a less than a minute, equipment can be registered and tasks can be assigned within the team. Everyone can follow up the process anytime and anywhere by having a look at the timeline or calendar. Aurélien Deutsch, Maintenance Manager and member of the Mobility Work community reports: "This is the easiest and most efficient CMMS I have ever used"

Moreover, being the first maintenance social network, Mobility Work gathers a global community where maintenance technicians can log in and share expertise, analyze maintenance protocols, find spare parts, search for or compare certain equipment.

Mobility Work's Main Features

Mobility Work was created out of a need for a flexible and modern CMMS, responding to the real needs of maintenance professionals.
